- Photograph should be with white background and size of 48x33mm. (Please avoid Tika, earrings, nose rings, garlands, spectacles/goggles while taking photograph)
- After getting a group Chinese Visa, you can collect your passport back from us during the day of traveling from Kathmandu to the Nepal – Tibet Border.
- Therefore, since it takes time, we suggest our Yatris to book as early as possible, so that your yatra can begin on your desired departure date.

If you already have a Chinese Visa: Normal Stamped Chinese visa on passport does not work for traveling to Kailash Mansarovar. Group paper visa is required and in order to obtain group paper visa your normal Chinese visa has to be cancelled. After returning back from the Kailash Mansarovar tour you can reapply for a Normal Stamped Chinese visa as per your requirement.

Parikrama:

What is the difference between Inner Parikrama & Outer Parikrama?

- Inner Parikrama means parikrama of Nandi Parvat and the outer parikrama means parikrama of Kailash Parvat. The regular Overland tour is actually outer Parikrama which is easy to complete. Inner Parikrama is currently not open due to restrictions from the Chinese Government.

How much do I have to walk during Parikrama?

- Kailash Parvat Parikrama is 42 Kms by trekking. (First day 12 kms, second day 22 kms and third day 08 kms)

Note:

1. If you went for a first day parikrama and don't want to proceed further then there is an option of returning back from Dirapuk to Darchen on a rescue van. It will cost around 500 Yuan to 800 yuan per person for this.
2. During second day parikrama – After descending from Dolma la pass and reaching Phedi there is the option of completing the remaining distance of parikrama on rescue Van and returning to Darchen which will cost you around 500 yuan to 800 yuan per person on sharing basis.

What if I don't want to do Parikrama?

- If you do not want to go for Parikrama at all, then you can stay at Darchen until others return back from Parikrama. Our staff will be there to prepare food and accommodation during your stay.

If I want to do Parikrama riding on horse (pony) how much does it cost?

- If you can't walk or don't want to go to Kailash Parikrama by foot then you can hire a horse and horse man for 3 days of parikrama by paying extra (around 3800 Chinese Yuan per person). This rate may vary during travel time, hence not a fixed rate. The cost includes charges for Horse, Horseman and Porter and directly payable at Tibet side.
- Even if you do hire a horse, you have to walk at least 2-3 hours

Is it possible to return without Parikrama and without waiting for other group members?

- You can return back early without waiting for others however many additional costs are involved on this such as Visa splitting charge, Separate Transportation, additional night stay at Kathmandu other than the designated one night included on our package.

Money and other things to carry:

Personal Expenses in Tibet

- USD and Indian Rupees are not accepted in Tibet. You will have to take Chinese Yuan which can be exchanged in Nepal upon your arrival or you can bring it from your home country.

- You have to take warm clothes like a sweater, trousers, thermo-coat, monkey cap, trekking shoes, high-neck, gloves etc.
- Please Download Guidelines for detail list

What do you provide us for the tour?

- We will provide a Waterproof Windcheater Jacket, a Duffel Bag, a Backpack, a Cap and a Passport Holder to every member as a souvenir gift from our company. You do not have to return these items after returning from Kailash.

Can we use USD on the Tibet side?

- No, the currency that is used on the Tibet side is Chinese Yuan.

What sort of clothing and accessories is suggested for the Trip?

- As the Kailash Mansarovar is at high altitude the climate is cold so it is recommended that you have warm clothes with you, thermo coat, monkey cap, comfort shoes, masks, walking sticks, sunscreen lotions, sun glasses are also recommended accessories for the trip.

Age Limit:

There is not any age limit for Non – Indian passport holders. However if you are above 70 or below 10 years old then we recommend consulting with the doctor regarding high altitude traveling.

Full Moon:

There are several reasons why yatris choose Full-Moon:

1. Festivals in Tibet happens during Full Moon (especially Saga Dawa Full Moon Festival: the holiest day in Tibetan Buddhism)
2. Full-Moon in Mansarovar: Many Yatris prefer doing puja during the Full Moon (Purnima)
3. Many want to see beautiful view of full moon over Mount Kailash

Note: If you want to Choose full moon batch for your trip then kindly note that during full moon there might be some rush at Border and Tibet side.

Fitness & Health:

You have to be physically fit for the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra. It is recommended to get a medical checkup before you plan to go for this religious journey. But it is not mandatory that you have to submit the medical checkup certificate. People with back pain may have problems during the trip on the jagged road. People with asthma or allergies to dust are strongly recommended to wear masks on the dusty road. Besides these people are recommended to practice walking and do exercise and yoga for physical fitness.

Cancellation Policy:

The cancellation policy will take effect subject to the following:

1. 90-150 days prior to departure date: full payment refund except non-refundable deposit.
